

AS TEMPERATURES RISE IN COFFEE™S ~BEAN BELT,™ FARMERS ELSEWHERE LOOK TO EXPAND

Wall Street Journal Abstracts

October 10, 2019 Thursday

Copyright 2019 The New York Times Company: Abstracts All Rights Reserved

Section: R; Pg. 8

Length: 51 words

Byline: PATIENCE HAGGIN

Body

---

ABSTRACT

Patience Haggin article in Journal Report: The Future of Food notes Climate Institute predicts climate change by year 2050 could decrease area in tropics suitable for growing coffee by as much as 50%; notes farmers outside traditional coffee-growing regions are already experimenting with crop; map (M)

Graphic

---

Maps

Classification

---

Language: ENGLISH

Document-Type: General

Publication-Type: Newspaper

Subject: GLOBAL WARMING (86%)

Organization: Climate Institute

Industry: GLOBAL WARMING (86%); COFFEE FARMING (83%)

Load-Date: October 11, 2019

AS TEMPERATURES RISE IN COFFEEâ€™S â€” BEAN BELT,â€™ FARMERS ELSEWHERE LOOK TO EXPAND

---

End of Document