Things continue to go nicely for Li Cunxin, the Chinese ballet dancer who was detained in his country's consulate in Houston last month after he married an American woman.

US Immigration and Naturalization Service grants Li Cunxin permission to remain in US

Mr. Li, a soloist with the Houston Ballet since 1979, has been granted permission to remain in the United States by the Immigration and Naturalization Service.

Immigration officials said Tuesday that the 20-year-old dancer had been given a "green card," the Government's identification document for resident aliens.

Three days before his authorization to remain in the United States expired, Mr. Li married Elizabeth Mackey, of West Palm Beach, Fla., a student at the Houston Ballet Academy.
