THE babe who left Prince Harry blushing after sneaking a cheeky kiss is one of the world's top bikini supermodels.

Fernanda Motta stole a smooch from the excited royal after he won a polo match.

Harry caused a ripple of laughter as he gave a thumbsup to the Brazilian crowd. And Rio-born Fernanda said she loved getting the royal seal of approval.

She said: "I didn't know why everyone was laughing because I was kissing the next player.

"I took his gesture as a compliment and that makes me very happy."

Harry was on his last day of a tour of Brazil to celebrate the Queen's Diamond Jubilee when he met gorgeous Fernanda, 30.

She has modelled for Vogue, Elle, Rolex and Moët & Chandon and has also appeared in four editions of the Sports Illustrated Swimsuit Issue.

She is signed to Chic Management in Sydney and to Elite Model Management in New York where she lives.

Kids

As Harry took part in the match in aid of his African charity Sentebale, he spoke about how he may have got his love of charity work from his late mother.

Harry, 27, said: "The most important thing in life for me is kids. I don't know if I got that from my mum or my father but I have this massive kid inside me."

He also announced plans to grow Sentebale, which supports disadvantaged children in Lesotho.

He said: "My ambition, once we are professional enough, is to expand across the world with the concept we're using in Lesotho."
